About me

After studying business administration at Lausanne university, I obtained the federal diploma of certified accountant. In 2010 I moved to Ticino to join Fiduciaria Mega in Chiasso, where I have been a partner and director since 2014. Previously, I was a senior manager in the audit department of PwC in Lausanne. During my professional career I have managed audits of small and medium-sized companies as well as of international companies and groups. Today, I accompany executives and entrepreneurs by providing the know-how gained from more than 20 years of professional experience, addressing the many issues that characterise business activity.
